

urbnet newsletter

search urbnet

JACKHOUSE

FUTURA

ONE DREAM ONE URBAN STAR
 ABORIGINAL URBAN STAR REGISTER TODAY CLICK!

reviews

Z.O.E.
Emotions
 $$$
 Although it's probably been close to a decade since Spiritual Juice broke up, they're still one of my favourite r...

read

The CUF
Caviar Volume 1
 $$$
 Sacramento rap crew The CUF (or California Underground Funk) formed in '93, and Caviar Volume 1, their fourth album and ...

read

Speed Dial 7
 11
 $$$$
 The new album from Speed Dial 7, the one-man band project from Zucchini Drive frontman Tom De Geeter (aka Siaz of Cavemen Spe ...

read

DVD
Flint Star: The Motion Picture
 $$$$

Kudos to independent, self-financed filmmaker Marcus G. Davenport who has, with the release of his gritty documentary, Flint Star: The Motion Picture, taken the first big step towards reaching his dream of becoming a successful film director. His passionate examination of Flint, Michigan's storied hoops history and the sheer rawness and candid nature of the footage combine to create a truly unique viewing experience from the opening tip-off to the final buzzer. As he journeys from concrete playgrounds to gymnasiums and ultimately the hardwood, Davenport tells his story through the perspectives of unnamed street ballers, local experts and fans, high school coaches, and the players themselves (including ex-NBA/current D-Leaguers MATEEN CLEAVES and EDDIE ROBINSON). But there's more to Flint Star than highlight reel dunks and uncut dialogue; there's the realization that poverty and poor living conditions have provided the Flint youth with aspirations of a better life, and it's this dream that lures them towards basketball and keeps the industry thriving. [Bradley Miller] For more info: <http://www.flintstarmovie.com>

Big Things Productions

AM ARCHITECT
 PATTERN LANGUAGE
 AVAILABLE ON iTunes & Amazon

FUTURA
 A JUNGLE JOURNALS
 NOW AVAILABLE ON URBNET BANDCAMP & iTunes

urbnetrecords.com
 artists distribution
 shop
 press photos audio tvideos

facebook
 flickr soundcloud
 twitter
 youtube

about urbnet
 privacy policy contacts

URBNET Communications Inc. All rights reserved.
 Reproduction is prohibited in whole or in part without permission.
 For personal, noncommercial use only.